25X1 6. [] Delivered a letter from the Director to the office of Representative Les Aspin (D., Wisc.).

25X1 7. [] Delivered to the offices of Senators Stevenson (D., Ill.), Byrd (Indp., Va.), McGovern (D., S. Dak.), Jackson (D., Wash.), Mansfield (D., Mont.), and Fulbright (D., Ark.) [] items in which their names were mentioned.

STATSPEC

25X1 8. [] Called Ted Kazy, Senior Staff Assistant, House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, alerting him to the fact that the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee had favorably reported its version of the Fair Labor Standards Act Amendments, S. 1861, which (1) blanketed Federal employees into that Act's hours of work and overtime compensation provisions, and (2) provided for nondiscrimination on account of age in Federal employment.

On the overtime and hour provision, Kazy agreed that, among other things, it raised a serious committee jurisdictional question. Subsequently, Kazy reported that he had talked to John Martiny, the Committee's Chief Counsel, and that their present thinking involves getting Chairman Dulski on the conference committee to oppose this provision.

Kazy felt that the age discrimination provision boiled down to granting the Civil Service Commission authority to make exceptions to the current law which applies to the competitive service. Kazy does not believe the House would accept this conception in view of the resounding vote against H. R. 8085 last January.
